Build Dangerous — Manual

Amstrad CPC 464 / 664 / 6128 (64K). REVIVE8BIT – 2026 – VASPER.

The story

Thanos is a building inspector. He is also immortal, which is the only reason he still has the job.

Every building in town is about to open, and every owner has the same plan: cut the ribbon, let the crowd in, and hope nobody finds the live wires, the hungry guard ferret and the "NOT A COMPACTOR" room before the insurance runs out. Thanos's job is to find every trap first. Since nothing can kill him, the quickest way to make a trap safe is to walk up to it and set it off. Then he signs the room off and moves on, while the crowd outside gets more impatient by the second.

He is immortal. Unimpressed. On duty.

Loading

Disk (CPC 6128, or 464/664 with a disk drive): insert the disk and type

RUN"BD

The REVIVE8BIT screen appears first. It stays for 10 seconds; press SPACE to skip it. Then the loading picture appears and the game starts.

Tape (CPC 464): rewind the tape and type

RUN"

then press PLAY and any key. The loading picture comes in line by line and the game starts on its own. Loading takes about four and a half minutes.

On a machine with a disk drive, type |TAPE first (the | is SHIFT + @), or the computer will look for the game on the disk.

The title screen

Key
SPACE / Fire	Start the game
L	Switch between English and Greek (Ελληνικά)

The language applies to everything: the captions, the dialogue and the results.

Controls

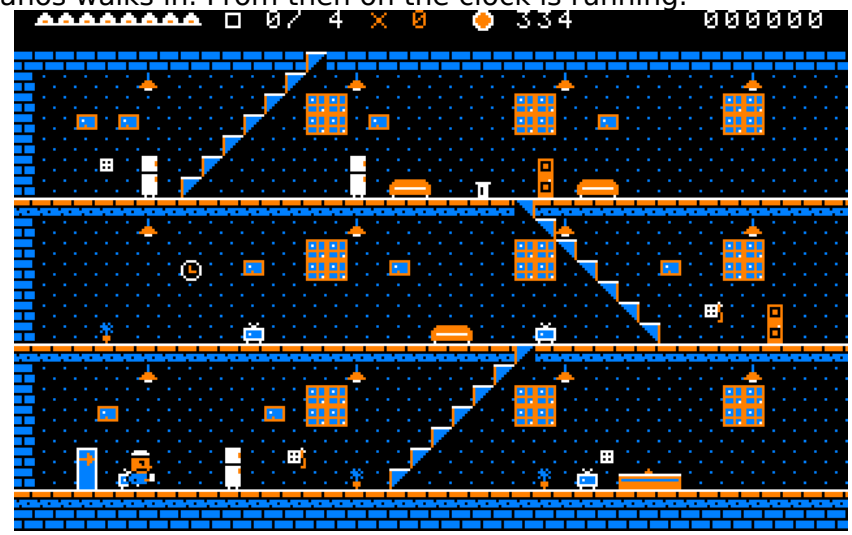

Action	Keyboard	Joystick
Walk left / right	← → or O / P	Left / Right
Climb stairs (at the foot / top of a flight)	↑ / ↓ or Q / A	Up / Down
Jump (on a floor)	↑ or Q, with ← → to steer	Up
Duck (on a floor, hold)	↓ or A	Down
Set off a trap (stand next to it)	SPACE	Fire 1
Sign off the room	M	Fire 2
Leave the building (at the exit door)	↑ or Q	Up
Answer the phone	↑ / ↓ to choose, SPACE to answer	Up / Down, Fire 1
Pause	ESC	—
Skip a scene / continue	SPACE	Fire 1

Once you are on a flight of stairs, left and right follow it up or down. Escalators (in the mall and the hospital) carry you on their own: step on and enjoy the ride. You can't walk up a down escalator.

How to play

Each building starts outside. The owner makes a speech, the crowd waits behind the ribbon, and Thanos walks in. From then on the clock is running.

The screen

Along the top of the screen, from left to right:

- Hard hats: Thanos's energy (his reputation, really). Eight hats; a hat can be half gone.
- Box and rooms: the box is ticked when the room you are in has been signed off; next to it, how many rooms are signed off out of the building's total.
- × and a number: Misses so far in this building.
- Clock: the crowd's patience, in seconds.
- Score.

Messages and captions appear on the bottom line.

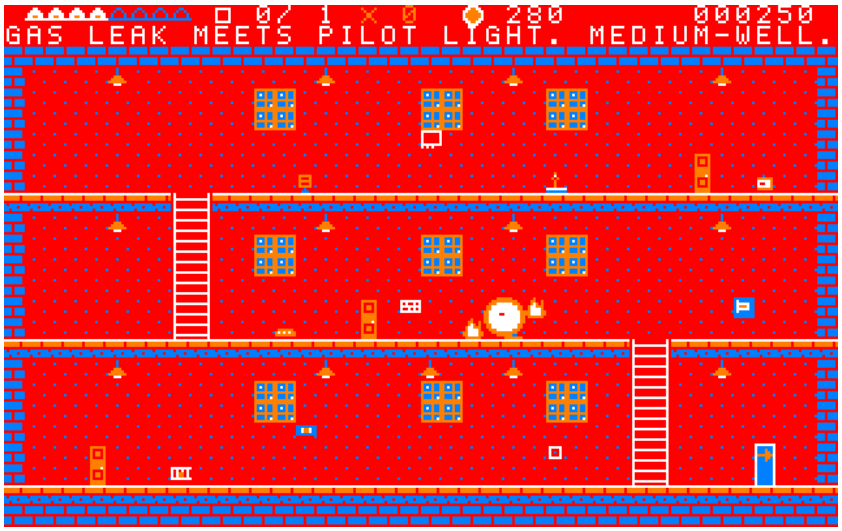

Finding traps

Every trap shows a small tell: a socket with a bare wire, a lamp hanging by a frayed cord, a dripping valve, eyes behind a grille, a cushion with something sharp in it, a gas pilot light, a freezer with a cracked handle, a leaking drum, a vent with no grille, a frayed lift cable, a door sensor throwing sparks, a sign that says "NOT A COMPACTOR".

Stand next to it and press SPACE. Thanos sets it off on purpose and lives through it, as always. That takes a few seconds, and the clock keeps running. The trap is then safe for good (+50 points).

The first three times you are within reach of a trap, a window tells you so: You are in front of a trap. Press SPACE to activate it. After the third, you're on your own. And when you have set off every trap in a room, a window reminds you to sign it off with M — until the first time you do.

Not everything that looks dangerous is: some sockets are perfectly safe, and some buildings have decoys. Pressing SPACE next to a safe one does nothing. Look closely at the tell.

Signing off rooms

When a room is clear, press M to sign it off (+100 points). The box at the top is ticked.

If you sign off a room that still has a live trap, that's a Miss: the border flashes, you lose two hard hats and 200 points, and the Miss goes on your record. The crowd will find that trap before you do.

Leaving

The building's exit door is in the room where you came in. When every room is signed off, stand in front of the door and press ↑. If rooms are still unchecked, Thanos won't leave.

How a building ends

- You leave in time: the ribbon is cut and the crowd cheers. You get the results and move on to the next building. The fewer Misses, the better the grade: a Clean sweep (no Misses), A few misses or Passed. Barely.
- Time runs out with at least half the rooms signed off: the owner delays the opening. Not great, but you go on to the next building — unless it was the last one, where it ends the game.
- Time runs out with fewer than half signed off: the ribbon is cut anyway and the crowd goes in. Game over.
- You run out of hard hats: your contract is terminated. Game over.

Between buildings Thanos gets back three hard hats.

Things that get in the way

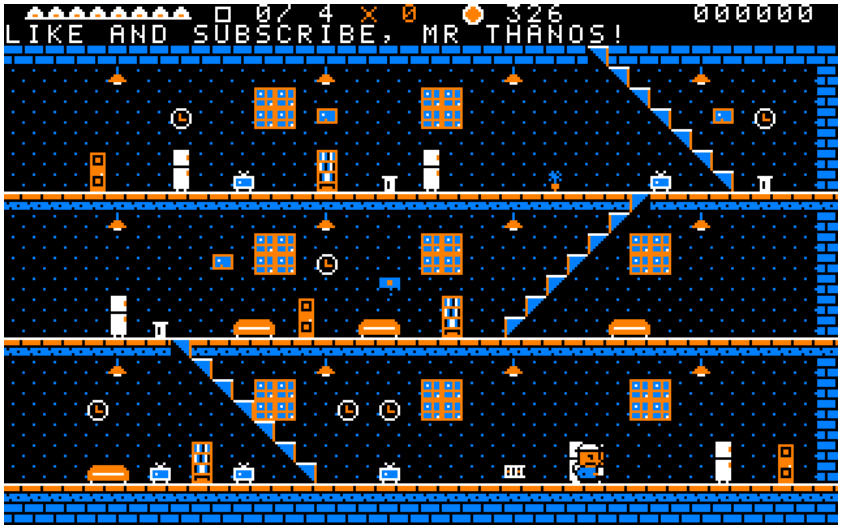

Tasha phones

Thanos's wife, Tasha, phones two or three times in every inspection, at random moments after the first twenty seconds. Her face appears in a window at the top of the screen and Thanos stops to talk. She asks; you pick the answer with ↑ / ↓ and say it with SPACE.

The right answer ends the call quickly (+50 points). The wrong answer, or saying nothing, makes it drag on — and Tasha has plenty more to say.

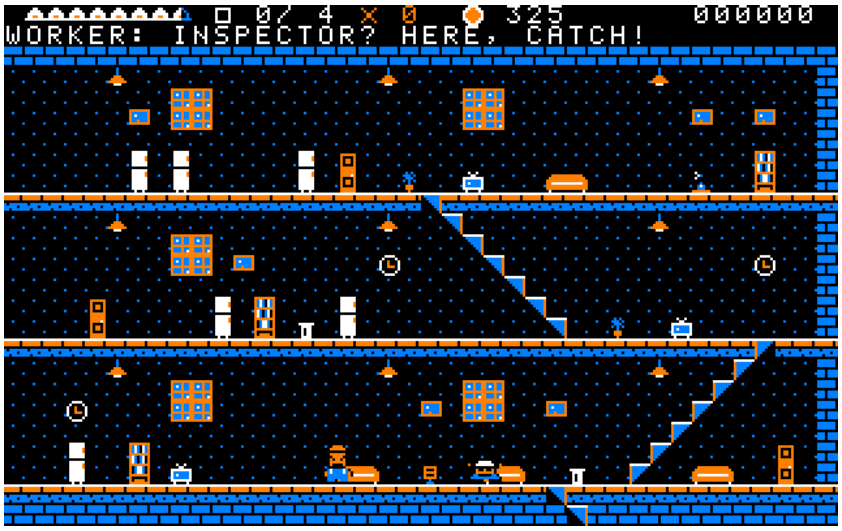

Bambis, the owner's nephew

Bambis is an influencer, and he is everywhere. He paces up and down a floor with his phone out. If he catches Thanos, he takes a selfie, with two flashes and a caption, while the clock runs. A few seconds later he wants another.

Jump over him. He can't get his selfie while Thanos is in the air.

Last-minute workers

The builders haven't quite finished, and they are not pleased to see the inspector. A worker paces his floor. When Thanos is on the same floor, he stops, raises a tool — that's your warning — and throws it:

- Hammers, and some wrenches, fly at head height: duck (hold ↓).
- Nails from the nail gun, and other wrenches, fly at foot height, and fast: jump (↑).

A jump clears either kind. A hit costs half a hard hat and leaves Thanos dizzy for a moment. After a throw, a worker rests for about ten seconds before the next.

The owner

From the Mall on, the owner himself walks some of the rooms. He has his reasons for wanting the traps to stay. If he passes a trap you've made safe in a room you haven't signed off yet, he sets it again: "That was decorative!" He won't do it in front of the inspector, though — while Thanos is close by, he just walks past. So sign each room off as soon as it's clear.

Blackouts

The owner of every building after the first hasn't paid the electricity bill. Every 40 to 60 seconds the lights go out for five seconds: the walls and floors all but vanish and only the white things show — Thanos's helmet, the edges of the floors, the sockets. The workers keep throwing in the dark.

The buildings

1. Sunny Vale Apartments — four rooms, a gentle start.
2. Big Box Mall — six rooms, escalators, the food court.
3. Grand Hotel — six rooms, a grand staircase, the suites.
4. Mega Hospital — six rooms, escalators, and decoys.
5. Hard Knock Hotel & Casino — six rooms of neon: slot machines, a stage, a rooftop pool.
6. The Skyscraper — eight rooms, the owner's own tower. Something is hidden under the boardroom stairs…

Finish the Skyscraper and the campaign is over. How it ends depends on whether Thanos found the owner's papers.

Scoring

	Points
Trap set off and made safe	50
Room signed off	100
Phone call answered right	50
The owner's papers	500
Miss	−200
When you leave a building in time:
Time bonus	10 per second left
Energy bonus	25 per half hat left
Clean sweep (no Misses)	500

The best score of the session is shown on the title screen.

Tips

- Plan your route. Every trap costs time, and so does walking back.
- Sign off each room as soon as it is clear. It's easy to forget one on the far side of the building.
- When a worker raises his tool, decide quickly: duck for the high ones, jump for the low ones. Or leave his floor.
- Answer Tasha well. It's quicker, and it's better for the marriage.
- If the clock is running out, make sure at least half the rooms are signed off.
- When the lights go out, stand still or walk a floor you know. They're back in five seconds.
